

Use of Propaganda

1929 ⇒ Joseph Goebbels ⇒ was in charge of propaganda for Nazis ⇒ and he used it to exploit the effects of the depression.

⇒ Nazi leaflets, newspapers, radio broadcasts ⇒ blamed economic problems on TOV ⇒ esp. clause on reparations.

⇒ Blamed Weimar Politicians for being too selfish and divided to take the necessary action ⇒ to get people back to work

- they promised strong and decisive actions ⇒ such as rebuilding German Armed forces ⇒ which would create millions of jobs.

Nazi 25 point program ⇒ also promised sympathy for the workers.

→ Nazi propaganda also offered up culprits ⇒ esp. Jews ⇒ to blame for problems.

Nazi campaign was clear and effective ⇒ in winning support of Germans.

Hitler promised to:

- end ineffective democratic coalition governments.
- Restore the glory days of the Kaiser and authoritarian rule
- return to traditional German values
- Fight the threat of communism in elections, in the Reichstag and on streets.
⇒ appealed to many Germans as it seemed to address their fears.

As a result ⇒ large number of people ⇒ gave Hitler and Nazis their support

- wealthy industrialists ⇒ provided party with campaign funds
 - Many Germans ⇒ esp. those in middle class ⇒ supported Hitler in villages, towns and cities throughout the country
 - Rural communities ⇒ Nazis gained many votes from those who shared their views about traditional values.
-