

Spartacist Uprising, 1919

⇒ was a left wing group

→ they were communists who held similar beliefs to the Bolshevik's in Russia

→ wanted a Germany ruled by soviets where state would own all industry

- early in 1919 ⇒ Spartacists fought for power
 - they were joined by rebel soldiers and sailors who set up soviets in many towns
 - However not all soldiers were sympathetic to left wing causes
 - there was a group of soldiers who fought against Spartacists
 - ⇒ one such group ⇒ Freikorps ⇒ anti communist band of WWI veterans
 - Ebert ⇒ made an agreement with commanders of the army and Freikorps ⇒ to put down the rebellion
 - bitter street fighting and casualties followed
 - Eventually Freikorps won
 - Ebert ⇒ used the same tactic ⇒ to crush other communist uprisings that took place between 1919 and 1920.
 - Estimated that death toll was at least 2000.
 - Despite this ⇒ communists remained a powerful anti govt force in Germany throughout 1920s
